For sale: A quality, redesigned family home in Hévíz's green belt. Following a full renovation, the property has been modernized in every detail. The electrical system was completely replaced, and the roof is new, making the house energy-efficient and reliable. The house features a three-phase supply, ensuring stable power for modern appliances. In the kitchen, a drinking-water filtration system provides clean water, while heating is supplied by Norwegian panel heaters, with an additional option of a cast-iron stove. A pleasant climate, year-round, ensures both cooling and heating as needed, keeping the interior comfortable. This renovated home offers a comprehensive solution for all needs, with modern technology and reassuring reliability.
